During his thirty-five year career in Real Estate, author, Bruce Nemovitz recognized the challenges Seniors face when deciding to downsize and sell their family home. He also realized that the children of these seniors needed assistance helping their parents during this difficult time. He offers two books, one for Seniors and one for their children:

Moving in the Right Direction offers specific, usable, and thorough information for Seniors, when they're making these difficult decisions.

In Guiding Our Parent in the Right Direction Bruce shares his wisdom, taking you step by step through the moving process, to make transitioning and selling your parents cherished home an honoring experience.
